

ABRIDGED CURRICULUM VITAE:

Prashini Moodley MBChB, MMed (Med Micro), PhD

Nationality: South African      Email: prashini67@icloud.com

- Clinical Microbiologist and Infection Prevention and Control specialist with expertise in wound infection, biofilm, antimicrobial stewardship and healthcare associated infections
- Extensive experience in clinical microbiology, research and teaching
- Academic and corporate leadership roles
- Active involvement in development of international consensus documents, education initiatives and multidisciplinary collaborations relating to wound infections
- Co-ordination and management of nosocomial and communicable diseases prevention and outbreak response
- Involved in the implementation antibiotic stewardship programmes in healthcare facilities
- Experience in designing and commissioning research and diagnostic laboratories and healthcare facilities
- Proponent of skills development and knowledge sharing in resource constrained areas

Current Professional Roles:

Clinical Microbiologist and Infection Prevention and Control Specialist, PathCare Diagnostic Laboratories, KZN, South Africa

Honorary Professor, School of Medicine, Nelson R Mandela Campus, University of KwaZulu-Natal

Other: International Wound Infection Institute (IWII) – Steering Committee Member

Publications in Peer Reviewed Journals (Full list available on request)

I have authored more than 75 publications including consensus documents and guidelines pertaining to management of wound infections

Recent Speaker Invitations Related to Wound Infections

- 7th Global Wound Conference. Beyond the Obvious: Uncommon causes of Wound Infection. October 2025, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.
- Wound Infection Symposium: Continuous Integral Debridement of Wounds, March 2026, Nairobi, Kenya
- International Wound Infection Awareness Day: Antimicrobial Stewardship in Hard-to-Heal Wounds: From Habit to Precision – May 2026; International Broadcast via IWII