

WHASA Bio Danielle Skinner

Danielle Skinner, BCur (Nursing Science)

Danielle Skinner is a registered nursing professional with a focused clinical interest in wound care and tissue viability. She obtained her Bachelor of Nursing Science degree from the University of Pretoria in 2019.

In pursuit of advancing her clinical competence in wound management, she completed a specialised short course in wound care through the University of the Free State in 2020. She further expanded her expertise by completing the International Interprofessional Wound Care Course (IIWCC) through the University of Toronto in 2022, an internationally recognised programme focusing on evidence-based, multidisciplinary wound care practices.

Since 2021, Ms Skinner has been engaged in private practice, where she delivers comprehensive wound care services grounded in current best evidence. Her clinical approach integrates systematic assessment, advanced wound management techniques, and patient-centred care principles. Her professional interests include chronic wound management, optimisation of healing environments, and the application of evidence-based protocols within the South African healthcare context.
